Dear Mr. Fitzgibbons,

Thank you very much for this update to my letter of September 30, 2013, to IG Linick. I was not aware that a full-scale investigation had taken place in 2008, nor that it had reached a conclusion. I would ask that you send me the following:

- a copy of the final report from that 2008 investigation; and
- a copy of the final report from this latest investigation conducted pursuant to my 2013 request to Mr. Linick.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Joan Wadelton

Finally, see Fitzgibbons original July 3, 2014 hotline e-mail below (this time in Aerial Italic/Bold):

Subject: Complaint Regarding Problems in The Department of State's Bureau of Human Resources

Ms. Wadelton:

The Office of Inspector General has conducted an analysis of your complaint. OIG Office of Investigations (OIG/INV) reviewed your previous complaints to include your 2008 Hotline submission H2008-0647, which resulted in an OIG/INV investigation. The 2008 OIG/INV investigation could not substantiate your previous complaints, and an evaluation of your subsequent September 30, 2013 submission did not identify any new or additional issues that would warrant further OIG/INV action.

The OIG considers this matter closed. However this does not preclude you from seeking other avenues for further review of your complaint, to include contacting the Office of Special Counsel at www.osc.gov

Please be advised that OIG plans no further action on this matter.

Sincerely,

Bill Fitzgibbons
